“ During the 43 years that Kathy and I have shared a deep friendship, many of our conversations were about Alice. It was a pleasure to witness the relationship between mother and daughter; one where each could openly discuss issues and opinions. The last time I saw Alice was quite a few years ago at Kathy and Jeff's wedding - what a fun time?

I'll remember her as always having that glowing smile as well as the brief conversations we had up until a few weeks ago. The world has lost a feisty little woman whose presence her family will surely miss.

“ One of my very first memories of Grandma Alice is when I went to Myrtle Beach with her and Katie for a week. Katie and I were probably in middle school. Grandma Alice and I laughed with each other that entire week. Grandma Alice's laugh was contagious, so we each just laughed and laughed to the point of crying for no real reason at all. Katie just looked at us like we were insane!
