“ I will miss listening to your stories and listening to you complain about things. It is so different knowing you aren't across the street anymore. I pulled in today and thought why is Aunt Tricia's door open and said well Grandma is there so it's ok, only to remember you aren't there anymore. I miss you so much and love you even more. Until I see you again, please watch over us.

“ I have so many great memories of my Aunt Alice. I remember so many people would say I looked just like her when I was young. She would always look at me and say "Oh you are so beautiful ". She would laugh and give me a wink. She would come to visit my mom and the two of them could drink coffee and talk forever. We had many Sunday dinners with the families when us kids were young. She would tell you how she felt if you liked it or not. A real spitfire. I never thought she would pass. For years she was my only connection to my late mom Virginia. They were so much alike. I will miss hearing her talk in the background when I would talk to Trisha on the phone. She would let us know her feelings when we were talking. I would get a kick out of her. Rest in Peace Auntie. I love you and you certainly will be missed. Xoxo

“ I have so many memories that this page is not big enough for them. She was not only my mom but one of my best friends. It was my honor to have her live with me and my family for the last 25 years even when we were bad at each other. I will love her always and miss her only until I see her again in heaven. Love Tricia
