

Ashley Raye Brumbaugh

March 16, 1983 - January 27, 2026

With deep love and gratitude, the family of Ashley Brumbaugh, age 42, announces her passing on January 23, 2026. Born on March 16, 1983, Ashley lived a life defined by kindness, devotion to family, and a generous spirit that touched everyone who knew her.

Ashley graduated from Stonewall Jackson High School and went on to attend George Mason University, where she earned her master's degree for anthropology. She took great pride in her education and her work, approaching both with dedication, integrity, and genuine care for others.

A true adventurer at heart, Ashley loved to travel and explore the world, always eager to experience new places and cultures. A passionate foodie, she delighted in discovering new flavors and seeking out the best food spots wherever she went—often turning a simple meal into a lasting shared memory. Ashley was also a devoted animal lover who cherished her pets with love and care.

Above all, Ashley was the very best big sister. Someone who could always be looked up to for guidance, strength, and compassion. Her kindness was quiet but profound, and her presence brought comfort and warmth to those around her.

Ashley will be deeply missed by her family, friends, and all who had the privilege of knowing her. Her love, warmth, and gentle spirit will live on in the countless lives she touched. Though she is no longer with us, her light continues to shine through the memories, love, and kindness she shared, and her presence will always be felt. Her memory will remain a blessing to all who knew her.

“ I met Ashley when she was working at Champs. We became friends shortly after and would occasionally meet for lunch to catch up. We also enjoyed visiting a few wineries in Virginia. She was a caring and intelligent friend that left us much too soon. She will be dearly missed.

“ I really did not know Ashley well until after she moved in, however I quickly realized how much she was just like her Mother, Beth! Ashley did not like it when I told her this but after explaining the attributes I seen in both of them, she was more accepting of it. Ashley was very kind and loving in nature and liked to kiss the back of my hand when she showed her appreciation to me. Ashley was also a stubborn, strong willed, independent woman who would give her all in life's challenges! She believed in "1LOVE" for all and proudly lived life her way! It was a privilege to get to know Ashley better and she will be dearly missed!
