“ Being from a large family of Uncles, cousins, in-laws etc, I didn't get to know Barbara in the early years of David and Barbara's marriage. I did however, get to know Barbara. She was sweet, kind and generous and I could talk to her openly. Barbara and I had several conversations just shortly before she went to be with our Lord and one of her main concerns is that she didn't want to leave anyone out and was trying to make sure she spoke to everyone and said goodbye. Even in her last days she was so concerned about the feelings of others. I know that God said, Welcome home my servant, well done and enter into the house of the Lord. Barbar loved the Lord with all her heart. Bob and I will miss you.

“ We have come to a time in my generations lives that we seem to have to say goodbye to our older loved ones. As hard as it is, we must be strong survivors to carry on, as life keeps going it does not stop nor does the hurt. It has been almost a year since my daddy Paul Staley Abel left us (ur Brother). Now you have gone up to join him and uncle Michael (ur Brother) who left our lives way to to soon. We get older and fragile and the good lord has plans that just doesn't allow us to stay on earth forever, but in a better place. No more suffering no more pain. You are reunited with Grandma and Granddaddy (ur Momma and Daddy). I am beating myself up as I didn't get to come see you and say good bye or hug you one last time. I was moving and had a timeframe I couldn't rearrange. I know you can see the house we bought as you had asked the last time I saw you how it was going. I will never forget all the years we spent carpooling in your van and the stories you would tell me bout all you kiddos growing up. The good ole days! You always called to check on my daddy and momma. You always made sure my mom knew what was going on and she did the same with you. I remember you and Uncle Dave would bring Grandma over to see my Daddy in his last 15 years as he was to weak and not fully capable of getting around (and he sure did love it when y'all would come). I can hear your voice as the tears flow. Fly high up above with the rest of our family Angels. You will NEVER be forgotten! We love you soooo much. We shall all be together again one day when the good lord is ready for us. Rest In Paradise, love ur niece Jennifer
