

Calvin Quoc Khoi Trandai

March 28, 1995 - November 20, 2019

Calvin Quoc Khoi Trandai passed away on Wednesday night, November 20th at the young age of 24. He is survived by his parents, Cindy Huyen and Scott Phi, and his younger brother, Edward Quoc Khang. He also leaves behind grandparents, aunts, uncles, cousins, and friends who love and miss him dearly.

Calvin was a loving and sensitive soul. At family gatherings, he was the captivating storyteller with a contagious laugh, always wearing a sly smile as he teased his loved ones. No one told stories like Calvin. He was a fierce friend, extending his love for those around him without judgment or pretense. Calvin was also a caring older brother to Edward, always looking out for him and encouraging him to dream big.

Calvin inspired us to be our true selves, caring more for authenticity and loyalty than for judgment or pretense. He brought out our inner child with his playful nature and the easy smile he brought into every room. The journey ahead will be difficult without his warm presence, but we will make him proud by living life the way he did: with laughter, loyalty, and a lot of heart.

We invite his family and friends to join us in the celebration of his life on Friday, November 29, 2019 viewing service from 11-3 PM. Funeral arrangements are being handled by Pierce Funeral Home in Manassas, VA at 9609 Center St.

“ Honestly I just learned of this today, and I am saddened. I remember meeting him at beach week in Ocean City MD, we were racing around the city in a Z, and he was blasting Electronic music. The things he said to me at the time really opened my eyes about being confident about oneself, and that I will never forget. RIP my friend.... -O
