

Chad Eldridge Caldwell

October 27, 1977 - March 14, 2021

“Like a true nature child, he was born to be wild.”

Chad Elbridge Caldwell was one of a kind.

On October 27, 1977, he arrived on the scene and the world would never be the same.

Chad was born into a happy, tight-knit family. He was a cheerful kid who loved to play outside. He was never any trouble to his mother (yeah, right) and had close relationships with his two sisters.

He graduated from Stonewall Jackson Senior High School.

After graduation, Chad worked at a tattoo shop.

Chad is an artist at heart and was happiest when he was tattooing. He was undeniably talented and worked at some of the best tattoo shops from coast to coast.

Chad Caldwell was a giant among men. He was the most loyal, generous, and genuine person one could hope to meet. His laugh was as big as his heart.
