I've known Chuck Atkins for 45 years and he was one of just a few honorable men I could call a friend. He took on the responsibilities of husband and fatherhood with noble distinction. For most of his life he worked two jobs every day to provide for his family with never a complaint. His character and perseverance make him the backbone of this country. He took his illness with dignity and humility in what should be a lesson for us all. His passing leaves a hole in my heart.
