

Charles Stewart Golladay

July 21, 1944 - October 3, 2023

Charles Stewart Golladay, 79, known to his friends and family as “Butch”, passed away on Tuesday, October 3, 2023 at his home in Manassas, VA. He was preceded in death by his parents, Esta May and William Oliver Golladay. Left to cherish his memory is his wife of 52 years, Elizabeth Ann Golladay, and two brothers, John and William Golladay.

Butch loved getting together with his family and was a beloved uncle to all his nieces and nephews. He loved to go fishing with his best friend Ronnie Ross and his brother John.

Butch had a great love for animals and faithfully donated to organizations for unfortunate animals.

He will be greatly missed by all who loved him and will be in our hearts forever.

“ Butch was one of the nicest and kindest men I have ever known and I was fortunate to have him for a neighbor for 30+ years. Butch would always come over when he saw me in the yard working to say "Hi" and chat for a while. He shared his passions with anyone that cared to show an interest. He truly loved nature with all his bird and squirrel feeders. Yes, he fed the squirrels too.. I will miss finding the peanuts that they liked to hide in my yard. Butch you will be missed, in hind sight, I wish I would have had more time to visit and talk with you.. my good neighbor and friend.

“ Oh Butch, we miss you already buddy. Your love and kindness for animals was so deep and so broad, and your friendships were the same. While you're gone from our sight you'll never be gone from our hearts.
