

Charles G. Jameson

December 26, 1941 - February 15, 2022

Charles G. Jameson, beloved father, grandfather and husband, passed away surrounded by his wife and dog on February 15, 2022, in Leesburg, Virginia. He was 80 years of age. Born in New York City on December 26, 1941, Charles was the only child of Henry Beecher Jameson and Letitia Graham Jameson. He was married to the love of his life, Dana Banker Jameson on January 19, 1974. He is survived by his wife, his daughter Jean Jameson Ahlberg and grandchildren John William (Jack) Ahlberg, Ryan Jameson Ahlberg, Matthew Steven Ahlberg, and Emma Jameson Ahlberg.

Charles grew up on Long Island, in Syosset, New York. He graduated from Friends Academy, in Locust Valley, New York. Having begun his college education at Cornell University, he changed majors to chemistry and graduated from Adelphi University. He pursued a Masters Degree in Nuclear Chemistry at Princeton University and briefly worked at Brookhaven National Laboratory. Charles joined the United States Navy, for the Vietnam War. He was an officer in the Navy, with the rank of Lieutenant at discharge. After leaving the Navy, Charles moved to Northern Virginia to look for employment.

After briefly going back on active duty as a reservist, Charles joined the United States federal government, in the Office of the Secretary of Defense, Defense Security Assistance Agency. He met his wife Dana in the Pentagon. Charles worked both in private industry and for the government and retired as Corporate Director of Import and Export Management for Northrop Grumman Corporation.

Charles was a Presbyterian elder and sang for several years in the church choir. He had a variety of interests. These included model trains, a 1957 Chevy, 1950's rock 'n roll music, writing and playing music on both the piano and guitar, target shooting, and astronomy. Although it was never published, Charles also wrote a novel.

His burial will be at Oak Hill Cemetery, in Fredericksburg, Virginia, at 10:00am, on Friday, February 25, 2022. A celebration of his life will be held at 1:00pm, also on February 25th, at Heritage Hunt Golf and Country Club, in Gainesville, Virginia. Refreshments will be served.

“ Glenn and I held Charles in very high regard, Dana. I'm so sorry for your loss. His name was mentioned often in our home when Glenn would refer to his high intelligence, work ethic, and being a wonderful person.

*Many blessings to you and your family, Dana.

“ I remember a night when Dana and Charles and my first husband and me went on a double date. We had a long car ride and Charles used the common ground of trains to share his relationship with Jesus. I told us that Jesus was like a best friend and then much more. The analogy stuck.

Many many years later my first husband accepted Jesus. I think Charles helped sow some seeds to make that happen.

Dear Dana

Charles was second to none professionally and as a kind, thoughtful and very intelligent person. I enjoyed serving with him in the Pentagon. He always carried the most important policy assignments.

I am so sorry for your loss, dear Dana.

With Prayers and love
