“ Charles was a neighbor and friend. On occasion, I picked up a few things for him at the local grocery store. I will always remember his change of life story. It was great that he only had one story. I often saw him walking his dog in the neighborhood. Charles made us feel comfortable and we were so grateful that he invited us to his home during Christmas time. God be with you til we meet again.

“ Charles went through life with dignity and grace, and knowing him was my joy..

Jesus tells us of the many mansions awaiting us in His Father's house, and I have a picture of Charles amongst the angels now, preparing those rooms. . .

“ Charles had the hardiest laugh that you could hear wherever he was. He was such a happy, positive person. He always loved doing his Christmas party (among other gatherings) for friends. Although he moved away from home over 50+ years ago he always kept in touch, came home for special events, family reunions, class reunions, etc. If he should miss "anything" he'd call for a full report. He has many friends across this nation. He will definitely be missed but not forgotten. Rest in peace with the Almighty and the rest of our family. Adios big brother. Your sister Rita

“ Charles was such a pleasure to be around. He is actually the one who helped me understand how willingness was the most important part of recovery. I'll never forget the wonderful dinner he hosted. He was in heaven with all his dear friends gathered at his house. He will be greatly missed but never forgotten. RIP Charles.

Charles,

You were one of the most positive and scholarly people that I had the pleasure of knowing for quite a few years here in Manassas. You will be missed by a large number of people here in the Manassas area. Even though you were a member of All Saints Church, I remember the many times you rode up the hill from the Oaks Residency to Grace UMC on your US Flag decorated scooter for the senior lunches held at Grace. Even though you were born and raised in Missouri, you were truly a Virginia Gentleman. Jesus will be happy to have you back in His Arms.
