“ *What can I say Pops, You were just the best man on earth. Can't recall you ever having any enemies. We will miss you terribly here on earth but know we will meet again some day.
Love David Wayne*

“ I asked Leona one time how Jack had proposed to her. She told me Jack said, "You know we are going to get married don't you?" She replied, "Yeah". I got a tickle out of that! Leona said, "Jack never was much for talking". I had heard that Jack was not much of a talker even in his younger days. So I scratch my head wondering how he procreated so many talkers. That will forever remain a mystery. What is not a mystery is that Jack was a great husband and father. He and Leona raised three great kids. They in turn raised more great kids who are now working on more great kids. So Jack, your legacy continues on. You may rest in peace knowing you did it right!

“ Thanks Dad for the loving heart and strong hands (when needed). You were a true model of the strong, silent type: strong in your resolve and sense of right and wrong. The love and devotion you and Mom displayed year after year is a model for all who claim to love. Through loss, hardship and illness, your example and steadfast devotion to your family marked you as an extraordinary man.

Love, Jeff

“ My Pop was such a sweet yet strong man which was seen in the last days of his life. Surprisingly, Pop wasn't much of a talker but he was always there listening to our stories, laughing at our jokes, and agreeing with my Memaw every time she said "Ain't that right, Jack?" and he'd respond with a chuckle followed by "Yeah". I am proud to be a Walters, to be his granddaughter, and to have had him in my life growing up. I love you, Pop and I know you're resting easy in heaven now. You're no longer confused by Alzheimer's, weak which grew with age, and in pain from your sickness. You are so so so loved and I hope you know that. I hope you enjoyed all of the stupid stories and conversations you heard over the last week while we surrounded your bedside. After all, we are here because of you. We are who we are, because of you. Until I see you again, Pop -
