

David John Bannan

September 8, 1968 - April 13, 2026

David John Bannan, 57, of Haymarket, Virginia, passed away peacefully on Monday, April 13 at Inova Fairfax Hospital surrounded by his loving family. David faced a critical respiratory illness with courage, strength, and resilience, never losing his sense of humor and remaining deeply devoted to family and those closest to him.

David was born on September 8, 1968 in Ridley Park, Pennsylvania, to Adrian John Bannan and Marilyn Delores Bannan (DeMarski). Growing up in Norwood, Pennsylvania, David spent his youth riding bikes, practicing photography, and exploring nature. These passions carried into adulthood, as David dedicated his time to training for triathlons and bike races, volunteering as a photographer for veterans and their families through Willing Warriors, and caring for his beloved bearded dragon, Newman. In 2000, he and his wife Susan moved to Haymarket, Virginia, where they built a life together and raised their two children, Andrew and Caitlyn.

He graduated from Interboro High School in 1986, and went on to attend Pennsylvania State University and Widener University, where he earned his Bachelor of Science in Information Systems. Continuing his education, David later earned a Master of Business Administration at George Washington University. He was also certified as a Project Management Professional through the Project Management Institute. David spent the last 16 years at

AT&T Public Sector, where he served as Director Program Management. A life-long learner, David continually invested in his education for both personal and professional growth.

Those who knew David will remember his sense of humor, generosity, and steady presence, along with his compassion for all life- including reptiles. A loyal and honest man, he was always willing to share his time, gifts, and knowledge with others- never hesitating to show up when it mattered. Above all, he was a devoted son, brother, husband, and father.

David was preceded in death by his father, Adrian John Bannan. He is survived by his wife, Susan; his son, Andrew; his daughter, Caitlyn; his sister, Christine DiPaolo; and his mother, Marilyn.

A celebration of life will be held at Greenwich Presbyterian Church in Nokesville, Virginia on Saturday, April 18. Visitation will begin at 1pm with a service at 2pm, followed by a reception for friends and family.

In lieu of flowers, David would love friends and family to consider a donation to any of the following organizations:

“ I enjoyed working with Dave. He took his work seriously, but he liked to have fun too. He had a great sense of humor. I hope the good memories are a source of comfort to his family.

“ David was my boss for the last year and a half of my career. He gave me an opportunity to do meaningful work as I finished my career at AT&T. David supported me and lifted me up at a time I needed a good boss and friend. I will always cherish the time I spent with David and have only great memories.

“ I will always remember David’s laugh and his bright optimism. He was a straight shooter, funny, practical, compassionate, and empathetic, but most of all, kind. He listened with both his head and his heart, making me feel accepted for who I am and happy I chose to live on the same block as him. He didn’t make a fuss about providing for his family, but you could always tell how deeply he cared. Though he didn’t often speak about God and country, he lived a life of service to both. Thank you for being a wonderful friend and a role model for husbands and fathers. Rest peacefully, my friend. I’ll see you on the other side.
