

Dieter Seltzer

September 9, 1992 - February 14, 2012

DIETER R. SELTZER, a Virginia Tech sophomore philosophy major and Collegiate Times opinion columnist died Tuesday, February 14, 2012 in Manassas, Virginia.

Dieter, along with his sister, Gabi Seltzer, wrote the "Relatively Speaking" column that debuted this year at Virginia Tech. Dieter added a real dimension of intellectual depth to the student bodies' conversation. Dieter wasn't content to talk about football scores--he did, he knew all the scores.

But first and foremost in his mind was what's wrong and what's right in society, and how can we improve it.

If you encountered Dieter, he was always in Virginia Tech clothing. He thought Virginia Tech was a valuable place to be. Dieter was involved in several clubs and athletic pursuits, including the Tech Men's Water Polo Club team.

Survivors include his father, Michael William Seltzer, one sister, Gabriele Eileen Seltzer; one brother, Paul Edmund Seltzer; his grandparents, Leni and Edmund Sluzis and numerous aunts, uncles, cousins and a host of friends.

A memorial service will be held 4:00 P.M. Saturday, February 18, 2012 at Pierce Funeral Home, 9609 Center Street, Manassas. Interment will be private.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests contributions to "Virginia Tech Foundation", Scholarship Fund, Department of Philosophy-0126, Blacksburg, Virginia 24061.

Condolences may be sent to www.piercefh.com.