“ Simply put, Kiki was one of the nicest people I've ever worked with. She was very helpful and a wonderful human being. I will always remember her smile and her calm disposition anytime we had problems at LineSS. She was simply fantastic. My heartfelt condolences to the family. May her soul rest in peace.

“ I've known Kiki through Sallie Mae for a number of years and have always appreciated her sense of humor and envied her strength. I can honestly say I'm a better person for knowing her.

“ I have many wonderful memories of Kiki and the stories she shared of her family from the 14 years I've known and worked with her, from the duck imprinting on Craig to the boys' paint gun days to the bike trip to.... I could go on and on, but the one thing I'll always remember is Charlie Hite saying: "...that Kiki, she's SUCH a Mom...". That statement sums it up best. Kiki's humor and joy in life centered around 'her angels' and there was nothing more important to her. Kiki will live on in our hearts and memories, but it is through Chris and Nick she will gain immortality. God bless her family and give them the strength to carry on, and remember the great times. I will miss Kiki more than I can ever express.

“ Kiki was a teammate of mine when we played soccer long ago. She had a bright outlook and was such a sweet person. I cannot remember all my teammates, but Kiki was one to remember. I am sorry for your loss.

“ Please accept my sincere condolences and my deepest sympathy on the death of Kiki.

I worked with her at The National Bank of Washington in the IS department. We shared a very cordial and fun working relationship. Though we did not know each other long, I considered her a friend.

May God bless each of you.

“ To Kiki's family and all who read this entry: I knew Kiki while at Sallie Mae, and never forgot her friendly smile. She seemed like such a sweet person, always surrounded by laughing people. Now I know why - reading about her wonderful sense of humor makes it all clear to me. God Bless you all - and Kiki, wherever you are, keep smiling on us, we will know you are there.....
