“ Grandma I miss you today as many days of the past , I remember sunday morning breakfasts at your house. I try to get my scrambled eggs moist and light just like yours, every sunday, as I cook breakfast every sunday for my family. I remember watching you put your pretty red lipstick on even when you lounged in your satin pajamas. I remember the cuckoo clock and the chime of the grandfather clock. My husband bought me a grandfather clock for christmas in your memory. I know you would have loved him. I just celebrated my 47th birthday and i would share with people your thoughts on what day you thought I should celebrate when it was not Leap Year !!!! I guess thats why I needed to find a place to let you know how you impacted my life in so many ways. With Love.....Your First Grandbaby.....

“ Renee and Family,

So sorry to hear about your Mom. She was one of a kind!!! Have very sweet memories of her in our childhood years, Renee. Your Dad too. They loved their kids and sure made their children's friends feel like family. My wish would be for every child today to have the loving parents that we did.

*Love and prayers,
Charissa*
