December 20, 1930 - March 26, 2025

Fang-Me Chao Wang (王趙放美) - A Life of Strength, Love, and Resilience

Fang-Me Chao Wang was born on December 20, 1930. From a young age, she demonstrated a remarkable spirit of resilience and determination. As a teenager, she left her hometown of Yunnan and embarked on a journey that took her across several countries, ultimately shaping the life of a devoted mother and grandmother. Her journey led her first to Burma and Thailand before she finally settled in Luang Prabang, Laos. There, she built a home and raised her family for 20 years alongside her husband, Hsu-Kuong Wang. Despite the challenges of living in a foreign land, she remained steadfast in her commitment to providing a loving and nurturing environment for her children. In 1976, after the political shift in Laos, Fang-Me made the courageous decision to relocate once again, this time to Taiwan. In this new chapter of her life, she worked tirelessly in a factory to support her family, ensuring that all her children continued their education. Her unwavering dedication and sacrifices laid the foundation for their future success. As her children grew and built lives of their own, Fang-Me continued to give selflessly, dedicating herself to the care of her grandchildren. At the age of 60, she moved to the United States to continue her role as the family's pillar, offering her love and support to the next generation. Her life was a testament to strength, perseverance, and boundless love. Through every challenge, she held her family together, guiding them with her wisdom and care. Her resilience and unwavering spirit will forever remain in the hearts of those who knew and loved her. Fang-Me Chao Wang's legacy is one of love, sacrifice, and unbreakable family bonds. Though she is no longer with us, her presence will always be felt, and her memory cherished. We will miss her deeply.
