

Frances Teresa Whisenhunt

December 29, 1956 - February 3, 2024

Frances Teresa Whisenhunt, 67, of Manassas, Virginia passed away on Saturday evening, February 3rd, 2024, after a prolonged battle with pneumonia that resulted in her inability to maintain proper oxygen levels. She fought valiantly for over a month at the hospital in Reston, Virginia with her devoted husband and family by her bedside.

The struggles with her health were monumental since her stroke in 2020 and her resilience was admirable. Although she battled mobility issues, she treasured the days, even the dark ones, and she reached for every second she could wring out of life to make memories with her family and friends.

Teresa was born in Portsmouth, Virginia, and a graduate of the Class of 1975 from I.C. Norcom High School. She was preceded in death by her parents, Nell Baker and Joseph "Hank" Morin. Teresa worked twenty-six years with Quest Diagnostics formerly American Medical Laboratories in Fairfax, Virginia. She enjoyed all things involving crafting, Shopping, NCIS and was mystically connected to giraffes but the activities that she loved the most were the ones that revolved around being a grandmother. Her grandsons filled her heart with the brightest of smiles and undeniable pride.

Teresa is survived by her husband of thirty-two years, Terry Whisenhunt, her son, Scott Sereduick, her stepson, Matthew Whisenhunt, her twin grandsons,

Michael and Steven Sereduick, her sister, Virginia “Ginny” Morin Collins, her sister-in laws Brenda Mullins, and Linda Jenkins, her brother – laws, Bobby Whisenhunt, and Jimmy Jenkins, In addition to many nephews, nieces, and extended family.

All of us that she leaves are remorseful for her departure but grateful for the release from her earthly struggles.

The family will receive friends at Pierce Funeral Home on Saturday February 10, 2024, located at 9609 Center Street Manassas, VA 20110.

“ Oh, Aunt Tee. As I flip through the memories, I want to pause on the pages of those younger years when you were vibrantly and vivaciously chasing life. The later years slightly bruised my soul because you were so incapacitated even though your mind still ran free. You were the built-in babysitter for me and intentionally molded me to be a bit of a rabblouser. A decision you may have regretted as I grew older and became heavily involved in political pursuits. You fed my obsession with Shaun Cassidy with endless memorabilia for gifts for all occasions. You applauded and encouraged my outspokenness even when it caused divides. You were my soundboard for figuring out all my indecisions, my awful choices in adolescent relationships, and my accumulation of an abundance of driving violations. I will forever treasure the Christmases that we spend eating fried rice and pizzelles even though I still think it was one of the weirdest traditions ever and to this day I am not really sure how it started. We were close enough in age that you never loomed over me as an authority figure and for that I will be forever grateful as it allowed us to cultivate a relationship based on friendship first.

I will rattle my fist at the universe for all of time for riddling you with so many medical miseries. You were robbed of the mobility to maneuver life and it truly smashed my heart. I regret that I will never be able to both commiserate and celebrate with you. I am sorry that there were so many milestones not met and so many memories left unmade. Yet still, I am eternally relived that the battles have ended and your weapons for simply surviving are needed no more.

As you blaze your path to the great beyond, please leave knowing that you were loved beyond measure and that your son will be canopied in comfort. Worry not and revel in the release.

Travel well and whole, Aunt Tee.
