“ I think about you all the time. My heart is missing you always. The memories of you make me smile and cry. We had our struggles but we really and truly loved each other. You just know that when after the kids are grown and you know your relationship is special when you act like lovers and best friends. When you have more playful moments than serious moments. When you can joke and carry on together. Those big hugs and the sweetest kisses. God knows I miss those more than anything. When snuggling on the couch together watching tv. Or when you would come in from the cold and freeze me with your cold hands. Someone that loved me completely with my faults and all. I wasn't ready to let you go and I can't. I just don't feel whole anymore without you. You were my beacon life and that is gone. Holidays are so hard anymore without you and Josh. I just go through the days missing you both feeling broken. I love you babydoll and I will until the day God brings me home too you.

“ I so missed my Good morning and Happy Birthday kiss and hug you would always give me. Everyday I wake up missing you more and more. I am so miserable without you. Some days I am so mad at you for leaving me and other days I am so mad at God for making you sick and taking you away from me. We were supposed to grow old together I just want to be with you. Sadness of missing you is so overwhelming it hurts so bad. I am just waiting for God to tell me it's time to be with you again.

“ I wake up every day wishing you are still with me. I will never know or understand why God would put people though so much pain It is really hard when the person that made you feel so loved that would put a smile on my face and made my world complete is gone and I just can't let go of you. You have always been my heart and now it feels like shattered mass of pain. I love you Babydoll and miss you so so much.

“ I miss you so much it hurts. Some days are so hard, but some days are a little better.

My thoughts will turn to you,
To love you was a bitter wrench,
The pain cut to my core,
I cried until my tears ran out
And then I said some words.

This wouldn't be your wish for me
That I'd be forever sad
So I try to remind myself
Of the happy times we had.

I know I can't be with you now
And you can't be with me

“ Happy Father’s Day to man that gave me the best part of me. We were bless with four of the best part of both of us. We really did do something right. It wasn’t always easy but we were in such a great place and loved each other unconditionally. You made me feel so special. Then Alzheimer’s stole the last 10 year’s we had left. I often questioned why would God put us on down that path. Then when we lost Josh I had no clue how I was going to move on from that unbearable pain but I knew you needed me. I knew the girls would be okay and they had their families for support. You saved me. The hardest thing was watching your disease consume you really made me question God. Why would he put someone through that kind of misery, watching you not able to do things you have done all your life. Taking your memory away one by one and not remembering your family and friends. Then when you had trouble talking and then you couldn’t do that anymore but you always had a hug and a smile. I wasn’t sure if you knew me towards the end but you would always give me that smile until there wasn’t anything but a empty stare. The day I lost you I lost me and it’s really hard to find me again but I am trying. I will always love you until the day I am with you again. I just miss you so much!

“ — You Don't Just Lose Someone Once —

*You lose them over and over, sometimes many times a day.
When the loss, momentarily forgotten,
creeps up,
and attacks you from behind.
Fresh waves of grief as the realization hits home,
they are gone.
Again.*

*You don't just lose someone once,
you lose them every time you open your eyes to a new dawn,
and as you awaken,
so does your memory,
so does the jolting bolt of lightning that rips into your heart,
they are gone.
Again.*

*Losing someone is a journey,
not a one-off.
There is no end to the loss,
there is only a learned skill on how to stay afloat,
when it washes over.*

*Be kind to those who are sailing this stormy sea,
they have a journey ahead of them,
and a daily shock to the system each time they realize, they are gone,
Again.*

*You don't just lose someone once,
you lose them every day,
for a lifetime.*

There are so many things I miss not having you here but you loved the holidays and the family get togethers. They were such great time for us. I so miss your hugs and kisses. Our talks and your sweet wit. The girls really try so hard to make the best of it but the sadness and grief is so hard on all of us. “ Babydoll I am a hard time but Daisy will be crossing the rainbow bridge tomorrow morning so you need to be there for her. She has been the best dog we ever had and has been here for me after I lost you. My heart is hurting so bad knowing she will no longer be here with me. The only thing that helps is knowing she will be with her daddy and I know she will not be in anymore pain. This house is going to be so lonely after she is gone. I probably have been selfish and should have done this before now but I couldn't bring myself to do it. I hope I can stay strong enough to have it done tomorrow. Please give me the strength to. Make sure you are waiting for her. Love you so much and for ever. 🥺

“ Well I put the tree up and I can just hear you fussing at me telling me it is too early. I think it was really not a good idea. It just makes me miss you more. We loved Christmas so much. That was truly our favorite holiday. Not looking forward to it this year but I will do my best since I promised you I will be here for our girls. Just miss you so much. I am lost without you. Love you more!

“ Thought about you so much on Thanksgiving. No more creamed onions and carrot salad. I couldn't even bring myself to even make them and thank God the girls didn't ask for them. Hope you and Josh enjoyed your day together like you used to. Still miss you so much. I watch your video everyday at least 3 times. My heart is so broken and all I do is cry. I go out when ever someone asks me to just gather myself. Missing you is so hard especially when you have been my heart forever. I love you so much babydoll and always will. ❤️

“ I was blessed with many years of your love, but sit here wishing I had many more. Alzheimer's is such a cruel disease and robbed us of 10 years. You fought so hard right to the end. Letting you go was one of the hardest thing I have ever had to do and my heart is torn apart but it would have been selfish to ask you to stay. I am so lucky because everyone doesn't have or know the kind of love we shared. You are my babydoll and you will always be. You always made life interesting and we never had a dull moment. You made me laugh and you made me cry. You loved your family with your whole heart. You were so proud of each one of them. I believe each of them know just how much. Your grandchildren made you shine and how proud you were to be their Pop Pop. You enjoyed every precious moment. Sad that Alzheimer's had taken you before Michael, Hampton and Leo was able to experience all the love you have being their PopPop. They never had the chance to experienced or have made the memories the rest of us enjoy. You were so proud of every one of the accomplishments your family has made. Your hands have made so many beautiful things. You could make anything, fix anything, you were always challenging yourself at different things and you accomplished many and I have learned so much helping you that I actually surprise myself. Most of all you taught me how to love with all you have and to give all the love I have. When I met you it was the best day of my life. And I will miss you for the rest of it. Until I see you again. I will miss you and love you always.

“ I love this! These pictures exemplifies the love Fred had for his family and friends. May these memories help comfort his family in this tough time. Fred always welcomed me into his home and never judged me when me and Jill would get into mischief. Haha! Rest peacefully Fred.

“ My sincere condolences go out to Janeen and the Banta family. Fred was one of a kind and will be sorely missed. I can still hear his voice screaming “JOSH” after he caught us trying to sneak off after he told Josh to cut the grass before he left the house. Of course, Josh didn’t cut it yet, that’s why he was screaming for him to come back. He knew he was trying to sneak out without doing it. Fred was a good man and raised a good family. Thank you both for letting my family and I be a part of yours.

“ Daddy I wish I could hug you one more time! I miss you more than you know! The kids and I think the world of you! We will make sure to share your memories with Hampton so he can continue to remember you! He didn't get to know the fun and wonderful Pop Pop that the others did, but boy did you steal a piece of his heart! He loves his Pop Pop and it will break my heart and make me smile every time he asks about you! Please give Josh a hug from us and watch over our family! Daddy this isn'tgoodbye it's until we meet again! I love you to the moon and beyond! Love your Annie 🧡
