“ I will always remember the smile on Glen’s face and the twinkle in his eyes as he warmly greeted Dave, Cindy, and me when we came to their home for our Bible study. He and Lucy were most gracious and we cherished their fellowship. Glen would always have a nugget of scripture from the Bible that was encouraging. He certainly looked forward to being in Heaven with the Lord except that he did not want to leave Lucy. But we will all be joining him one very special day!

“ Joe and I were privileged to have known Glen & Lucy for over 30 years. Lucy even reminded us that Glen & Lucy and Joe & I joined the church on the same evening. Over 5 years ago, Martha Bullock, Dave Yakel and myself started a Bible Study with Glen & Lucy. It was such a blessing when we would meet as Glen always had something special that he would share with us. When Glen would speak about the Lord, he would speak clearly without any hesitation and could remember scripture versus that would be pertinent to what we were studying. He loved the Lord so much and was looking forward to going home to be with Him. Glen's love for Lucy was so special and showed what a true Godly marriage is to be; and, Lucy loved Glen so much and was a wonderful care giver to him. I will treasure the times that we had with Glen and hold tight all my memories of him. Glen was a loving, Godly man whom I truly respected and loved.

“ In the Bible studies Glenn would always say" this is not the real world" He had his eyes on that place that Jesus said" I go to prepare a place for you that where I am, you shall be also" We often say" Glenn was" but he is not a was, he is an " is". At times during the Bible study the Holy Spirit would give Glenn a reprieve from his pain and his ability to speak clearly and he would share a spiritual " nugget" with all of us from the discussion we were having! He always wanted to be used of the Lord. Many years ago Glenn made " Peace with God" which gave him the "Peace of God" that took him through many difficult times. Glenn had a love for Jesus that was not only in his words and actions but on his face. I think towards the end he questioned his contribution to the Kingdom but he never ceased to be inspiration to me .He loved his bride and those around him knew that.

The Word say," Husbands, love your wives, as Christ also loved the Church, and gave Himself for it" Ephesians 5: 25. I personally believe he came very close to that mark. When we would see each other, he would always pull my beard. I will always cherish that memory. I believe he would want me to ask anyone reading this tribute the question" Do you know for certain that if you were to die today, would you go to Heaven?" I love you my brother. When I arrive, I will look for you.

“ I met Glen and Lucy in 1974 while they served a Methodist church in Petersburg, Va. Although a Baptist at the time, my spiritual life had recently been impacted by the Holy Spirit, and I was looking for others who knew what I had experienced. What I found in Glen and Lucy was a genuine Christ centered love for the body of Christ and ministries that extended far beyond the boundaries of the Methodist congregations they served.

From the beginning, Glen has been a major encourager to me, and he was one of the first I truly considered a "Brother in the Lord". A brother I have looked forward to sharing eternity with.

In recent years, Glen has been looking ahead and found exciting insight in Randy Alcorn's book "HEAVEN". I'm sure he would recommend it to you.

See you later Glen. Your Brother, "the Big Rascal" , Jim Marshall

Sweet Glen...I can picture him in the presence of the Lord now. He always, always looked forward to that "one glad morning" when this life, through his faith in Jesus Christ, would give way to eternal life. I met Glen and Lucy in 1980...we attended Manassas Assembly of God Church together. I was a single mom and a "baby" in my faith...just a year old and they always inspired me. Their warmth and genuine love for the Lord and the Body of Christ (and for each other) was evident...they exuded the fruit of the spirit in all they said and did. When Warren and I married in 1981, our two couples were fast friends, and thus it has stayed over the years. I like to say that I love being around people who love being around Jesus. That's Glen and Lucy...they love the Lord with all their heart, soul, mind and strength. With the busyness of life, we never had enough time with Glen and Lucy, but treasured the occasions we were able to gather and fellowship with them. And what great discussions we would have about what God was doing in our lives and what he was speaking into our lives. And the subject of heaven and eternal life always, always came up. "This world is not my home" he would say. Amen! On December 21, 2014 at 1:00 in the morning, Glen stepped out of his mortal body and entered into eternity...he finished the race and was home...where he waits for his beloved Lucy and his family and friends. "I am the resurrection and the life. The one who believes in Me will live, even though they die." John 11:25. Glen, I will miss your bodily presence among us...but rejoice that you are finally home, my friend. When we all get to heaven, what a day of rejoicing that will be!! See you in the morning, Glen. Love, Sally

Lucy,

Though I have never met you and Glen face-to-face, I feel as if you are close friends, as I have followed your journey through the prayer tree. You have both blessed me with your strength and close relationship with God. I know you will miss Glen, but I know you rejoice that he is with his Savior and you will be re-United one glad day. You and your family will continue to be in my prayers and I send Love in Christ to you.
