I picked a yellow candle for you, you are wearing yellow in one of my favorite pictures of you, you looked so precious. I always looked forward to seeing your pictures on FB and said you were our Facebook baby. You touched my heart with your adorable little face and the hearts of so many. I am truly heartbroken for your Mommy and Daddy and your whole family, but know you must be the most special little angel in heaven right now. Rest in Peace Beautiful Isabella.

“ Isabella captured the hearts of so many of us across the country who came to love her thru her struggle. This news hit hard especially since Bella had made it to the point of going home from the hospital giving us all hope that she was on her way to a full recovery. She was a little angel and brightened everyone's lives she touched during her short stay with us. She made you just want to hold her close and let her know how much she was loved. My very deepest condolences to her family.
