“ I love this picture of Jack with his big smile and signature tee shirt. Pam always picked out the funniest ones and they brought smiles to many of us at the Senior Center. My memories center around our acting class. Jack was a born comedian and also shared his humor through the plays and skits he wrote for class. "Airfare Included" is my favorite play. He drove the airport shuttle bus with cap and makeshift steering wheel while the rest of us sang, "The Wheels on the Bus." The "Fried Chicken" skit actually happened on one of their dates. He has not been able to participate in class for a few years and I'm so glad I knew him when.

Farewell, my beloved friend. I will always be there for Pam. Perhaps, one day I'll be missing a jar of your favorite raspberry jam...

Love,
Susie

Thoughts and prayers to Shannon and the Millett family. He was a great man. Never forget the Father's ticket on the way to Skyline Drive. Rest in peace.
