“Jim, my close brother in Christ. We survived Kleagerville together and became close friends in Christ. Our talks about our faith, the world events, our personal interests and frustrations in life were easy with you brother. You gave me a shoulder to cry on in my times of deep grief.

Though I know I'll see you again in heavens glory, you will be missed greatly my brother.

“Jim, a beautiful friend who put others first, including Christ. I thank God he allowed our paths to cross. You will be missed. Now go and celebrate with the risen Savior.

To the Duffield family, you are in my thoughts and prayers.

*With Love,

“ Jim was always there for me over the many years that we shared walking this earth. He supported me in every way, whether it was in work or with my own personal issues. Jim would be the first to offer up a joke to ease a burden and would always let me know that I was in his prayers. Jim helped me increase my own faith in Christ and never let me forget to never stop fighting the good fight. I know that when I used the term "my brother" when greeting him or ending a conversation, he knew that we shared a common bond with many threads. I will miss Jim deeply yet will forever be blessed by the time that we shared in this life.

Good-bye My Brother, I miss you. May the Lord keep you always.

“ To the Duffield:
There are no words to prepare for the lost of a love one. You have my sympathy as you make your way through this passage. John %:28 & 29 states "Do not marvel at this because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out, those who did good things to a resurrection of life, those who practice vile things to a resurrection of judgment." So remember to always trust in Jehovah.

“ To a wonderful brother-in-law who will be greatly missed. I will miss your sense of humor. I will miss your American patriotism and your conservative ideals. I will miss your calming influence on our family. You were a loving husband and father, and a good provider to your family. You provided your children with values and ethics that will help them through their lifes journeys. I pray that God will continue to bless your family and give them peace.

“ James was a loving husband and father. He and Venita were like a part of our family. We will treasure the memories of the times we spent with Jim, over the years and enjoyed his jovial personality and sensitive, caring spirit. He was always ready to lend a helping hand when the need arose and shared his love of family, country and God. We are particularly grateful for the time we were able to spend with Jim shortly before he became ill. He will be sorely missed but not forgotten.
