“ In 1971, Jim was stationed with the 36th USFAD at General von Steuben Kaserne in Hemau, Germany. I was a German college student working during my summer break at the Radlmaier Gasthaus (guest house) - a local pub, restaurant, and disco frequented by the soldiers of the 36th detachment. It was love at first sight for Jim and I when we met. We got engaged on Christmas Eve of that year. We had great plans for a future together, but fate would lead us in different directions.

It was also fate that reconnected us in February 2009. I had heard that Jim was in a wheel chair after having suffered a stroke a couple of years before. I visited with him and his family in Virginia on two occasions. They were happy reunions full of laughter and some tears reminiscing the happy days in good old Hemau. We both realized that the love we had once had for one another....was still there.

LOVE is stronger than death. Jim, you will always have that special place in my heart.

RIP, Jim.

With Love for Mom, Gary, Steve, and the Witherow Family,

Vilja
