“ My condolences to Sue and family. I was fortunate to meet Jay through a very good friend of his, Andy Zembower. What an amazing young man, with enormous knowledge in knowing what he wanted for his family and a calm manner in asking for it! I am honored to have shared a small chapter of your life! Peace be with you and your family.

“ Jay was a great friend for the last 25 years in Minnesota and Wisconsin and he will be dearly missed by all who knew him. He and I put our docks and boats in the spring and took them out the fall, helped each other with finishing basements and house projects...there are too many things he helped me with over the years to mention. I have never met someone like Jay as everyone liked him and he liked and got along with everyone. He was kind, helpful, generous, hard-working, funny, selfless, good-natured, smart and clever, but most of all he was the best and truest friend I ever had and I will always miss him. My heart goes out to his family. He was, in a word, the best among us all.

“ Jay was a wonderful friend, kind, mindful, smart and engaging. A strategic problem solver like I've never seen before. We had lots of fun and met a number of challenges together. We supported each other through thick and thin...and celebrated each other's triumphs. What a great guy to have by my side. I'll miss you....your innovative lunches...and the way you would identify chifafa.

“ For more than 30 years, Jay Mork described visions of the future that challenged the art of the possible and enabled the most challenging missions of our warfighters and intelligence analysts. His sincere love of people, regardless of rank or position, was an example to us all. As an innovator, leader, mentor and friend, he will be deeply missed.

Those of us that worked alongside him will always remember him and carry his legacy forward.
