“ Grandma,

I can not express enough just how much I admire you & love you. I am still in shock that you are gone, mostly because you were so active & had such a zest for life, I never could believe that you were 88. When you moved to Manassess I was so happy to have you closer & of course I still feel I didn't get enough time with you. I miss seeing you on the weekends. I miss you calling me because you were having printer/computer issues. I miss laying my head in your lap, eating Ice cream, doing puzzles, eating spaghetti, even taking rides with you (Although you were the fastest, scariest driver ever lol) Most of all though I miss talking & laughing with you. You were the one person I could tell absolutely anything to & I never had to sugarcoat. You helped me through some of my biggest struggles even if you didn't agree with what I was doing I still could tell you. We had no secrets & loved each other unconditionally. You were so good to so many people & you not being here has definitely left a void, but most of all everyone has so many great memories of times spent with you. I know you always worried about Mom taking care of herself but I promise just as she was always so good to you & there for you, I will be there for her & of course we still feel you laughing with us in every moment we are together! Please give my "Pretty" Grandpa a hug for me & tell Cousin Jeremy I love him so much. XOXOXO

“ Jean was the closest thing to a mother I've had since I was 16, she was also a best friend, confidant and mentor. She loved to go and do. At 88 she still ran rings around me. She was probably the kindest person I ever met, though she did not hold back her thoughts on whatever situation was at hand. She was honest and loyal. She would help anyone, and she made visiting her like a vacation. She's been my go-to for 40 years. I will miss her dearly.

“ Jean was a life long friend. We met in Va when we were three, I think. We lived in the same neighbor, across the fence actually. We played school together, taking turns to be Teacher. Then the teen years arrived and we moved in different directions. We both married and had children. No matter the distance we kept in touch and I loved her dearly. God blessed Jean with wonderful, loving children, her light will always shine. Ginger Moore Miller
