I will miss you Jen, more than you know! There's so many good times we share that I will always think about...I remember trying to run to the basement of our office when I tornado passed right in front of our building..we paused looked at each other and laughed oh ya there is no basement here while watching the windows bow in and shake..our ocean city trip to meet with the girls from Ron Speakmans mortgage and equity...our long lunches at Main Street Title...attending church Christmas play with you and your family... visiting and chatting with your mom ... so many many times I remember all full of laughter...just exactly who you are and will remain bright beautiful and full of laughter...I love you my friend, watch over us we will remember you always...
