“ John was a very nice fellow. My brother, Pat, died the same way two years later. He treasured his long friendship with John, since college.

“ironically, i was at Laurel Race course today, hoping to hit some massive payout. I had not been there, or anywhere at Maryland simulcast for some years, and lo and behold, one of the clerks came over to me and said "did you know that your friend John from Rosecroft died?" I was stunned....really stunned. I hadn't seen him for almost two years, but I always thought he was there, in the midst of a conservative world, preaching what we liberals regard as the truth.

what a lovely man! What a learned and thoughtful man.

I still can't believe it.

I wanted to leave just then.

But I played one daily double on my way out. All with # 3.

And I won and it paid $872 for my $5 bet.

Thank you John.

But thank you even more for who you were.
