“ Mama we loved you but God loves you you more. I am privileged to have known and shared a part of your life with your loved ones. You are such a wonderful and God fearing person. Even in your difficult times, you never lost the passion to share your wonderful life as a true practicing Christian. You have lived an exemplary life as a true Christian and I know you are rested in the bosom of The Lord. May God give the ones you left behind the strength and fortitude to bear your loss. Sleep well Mama.

“ Grandma,

You are the most beautiful person that I've ever known, and I still can't believe that you are gone. I remember when we were younger, the way we feared you because you never spared the rod, or the slaps, with us. As I got older, though, you became more like a friend to me, and it amazed me how I could talk to you about any and everything despite the generational gap between us. You have taught me what unconditional love is, and you gave me one of the most precious gifts--the gift of faith. I thank you for that, because it is only that gift that will help us to get over your passing.

I pray you are resting in peace, finally pain free, with grandpa. I love you grandma.
