“ Julie was the very first girlfriend I made when I moved to Virginia in the 80's. Our boyfriends shared a townhouse so we often spent weekends running into each other. When the boys were busy, we'd pile in the white corvette, take the T-tops off and drive around DC singing to the radio and having a ball. We were hat girls and promised that we'd wear hats to each others weddings. I kept that promise and was so honored to be at Dan and Julie's wedding. I can't believe that the last time I saw you was the time I accidentally threw my wine all over you. I'm so sorry friend. I'll give you a shot a evening the score when I join you in paradise. Rest now girlfriend. I will miss you forever. Brenda Pearl

I was Blessed to know Julie through Real Estate as we were both agents and had many friends in common. We were also both active with The Prince William Association of Realtors (PWAR.) Our friendship grew through years and when I was elected President of NOVA WCR (Women's Council of Realtors) I talked Julie into running with me in 2016 as President Elect. We traveled to various conferences and meetings throughout the east coast and shared our thoughts and hopes for our Chapter (Network) as well as for the Organization itself. Countless laughs, dreams and a deeply forged friendship later, we shared something else that would forever bring us even closer. I was diagnosed in Dec of 2017 with stage 4 colon cancer that traveled to various other organs and lymph nodes and was given 6-12 mos to live) and then Julie was diagnosed with breast cancer the following year. We took each other to chemo sessions, sat together, laughed and remained positive throughout our surgeries and treatments, we got involved with others who were being diagnosed with various cancers and spoke frankly about everything we experienced throughout our cancer/recovery journey. The good, the bad and the ugly. We were able to speak freely because we were on the same playing field and knew we could speak freely and honestly with each other. Julie was truly the sister I never had. We were in touch daily through FB, text or phone. I could go on and on but the bottom line is that my life was and will always be so much better and richer for having had Julie in it. I will forever carry her in my heart and memory. As long as I still have breath, her legacy will live on. My prayers are with her family and countless friends during this incredibly surreal and unimaginable time. Rest in Paradise my beautiful sister. I will see you again 🙏❤️

I was so shocked when I saw that Julie had left this earth for her eternal home. The first time I met Julie was when I was looking to relocate my real estate license to a different agency. We spoke at length on the phone; however, I knew whenever we had the chance to meet face to face, she would be the lovely person I was imagining just from her sweet and sincere voice. Her voice did not betray her as she was so much more than I could have imagined. Always had a smile, always kind words, never did she seem to be upset about anything. Her personality was as beautiful as she was. I remember running into her and Maura Sullivan one day in the medical building over by Sentara. It was that day that I learned she had been diagnosed with breast cancer. Maura was there as her support. It saddens me to know she is no longer here. My prayers go out to her husband and family that they will find peace and comfort knowing she no longer suffers any pain. Rest my friend Julie in your new home above.
