

June Carolyn Wilks

March 23, 1937 - November 24, 2017

June Carolyn Wilks grew up in Northern Virginia (Arlington Area). She was born on March 23, 1937 in Page County, VA and attended Washington and Lee High School.

She married and, over the years, had 4 children who loved her very much: Joe, Scott, Kim and Sallie. After her husband Robert Wilks' retirement, she moved South to Port Charlotte, FL and managed to survive hurricane Charlie. Upon the death of Robert Wilks, she moved to the Manassas area and lived close to her children (except Scott who visited from San Francisco).

June Wilks had the best resume for a mother and friend. She was an accomplished listener and the sort of person who valued your thoughts and ideas, expanded them in conversation and even remembered later to bring up one excellent point to illustrate another example. She was considerate, self-effacing and humble. Generous in all things especially with her wit and sense of humor that bridged generations and impressed her grandchildren. Our mother loved the book, "The Giving Tree" by Shel Silverstein and everyone knew it was written about her.

June Wilks loved all of her children the Most and each as an individual. She loved her grandchildren and great-grandchildren, participating in their lives and handing out serious cash money with her $5.00 an "A" program. Her friends were important to her and she valued them, near and far, because she delighted in their time together, sharing their stories and touching their lives.

We are devastated by the loss of June Carolyn Wilks. It is the end of our beginning...and that separation is an unmooring from a warmth, a stability and a certainty of a mother's love that each of us has known all of our lives. We are so sad. And yet, she remains always in our heart, filled to capacity with memories of her. We miss you, Mom.

“ My deepest sympathy to the family. June will surely be missed here in Building One. It has been my pleasure to know June and share some good times with her.
