“ I moved to Brookfield in 1966 n Laurie lived down the street n we became very good friends. We graduated together too. I knew her whole family. Her mom was nurse n was good at it. Just want to send my condolences to her daughter, Caitlin n will pray to give her strength through this time. I hope she knows her mother is in a better place than us. It's always especially hard when you lose you mom. Xoxo n keep your faith.

“ On Christmas Eve, Laurie was of course disappointed to be in the hospital. She told me by text that she heard a patient crying in the next room and wanted to go in and comfort her. I was a little concerned because of Laurie’s recent foot surgery and wanted to make sure she didn’t hurt herself trying to help someone else. I advised her to make sure she had help from a nurse to get up safely. I’m not sure how she did it but I got a text later saying that she had made it into the next room to comfort another patient who was also stuck in the hospital over Christmas. So true to Laurie’s nature to be serving someone else during her own difficult time.

I was able to visit her twice in the rehab facility. I played music and hymns for her and talked to her.

I've thanked them before and I'll likely do it again. The Mormons did so much for her! They deserve a whole lot of credit! Thanks for being there for my dear friend!
