“ Lisa was a good soul, a tremendously talented rider, a loyal friend, a horse and animal lover, and a giving veterinarian to many creatures. There will be thousands of animals lining up in heaven to great her and welcome her. We will all miss her.

“ I will miss Lisa -- her passion, her intelligence, her humor, and her strength. But I take comfort in the fact that she will never truly be gone from the hearts of all those who loved her.

“ I remember Lisa as being a bright warm light during our first jobs in veterinary private practice in Virginia. She was a generous soul, an excellent clinician and possessor of a rapier wit. Most of my memories of her include her laughing and I will likely always remember her that way. My great condolences to her family and friends. Life will be a little less sweet without her.
