“ What a great man he was. I will always remember how great of a person he was and all he did with the CHEMS project in IBM

“ I am very sad. Lou was a terrific friend, and I considered him my virtual uncle. I moved to California a few years ago, but in March of 2017, I was in Virginia, so I stopped by to see Lou and Marie, I brought some doughnuts, Marie made us coffee, and we had a great time. I woke this morning (9/13/2018) and thought of Lou, and realized I had not heard from him in a while, and I had this sad feeling. Then I did a google search and found the dreaded news. I am so sorry to Lou's family...Marie, David, Arlene & Debbie, and all the grandchildren. I am sad he is gone. He was a very good person and a true friend. I only wished I had known of his parting of this world sooner. I am really, really sorry.

“ I recall growing up with a kid, nearly 50 years ago, going camping with Uncle Lou, Aunt Marie and the kids on a near monthly basis back when they lived in Owego, and our family lived in Appalachin. Sitting around the fire and telling good stories and laughing. Years later, I also recall times when Uncle Lou had me over when they had their foreign exchange students visiting and the many times I came over to hang with David. I also fondly remember him chipping in and helping us layout and build our 800 square foot deck here in CT. Our deck is still there some 25 years and sports new composite decking and aluminum railing, and nearly every time I step on it I recall how my Uncle Lou, Aunt Marie, and my parents helped us out that week. He will be sorely missed by all. Our condolences go out to the entire family. David, see you later in the month down at Lake Anna.

“ My deepest sympathy to the Balboni family. I will miss Lou's stories and his laugh. I have so many fond memories of being part of the whole family sitting around the table eating a delicious meal and then talking and laughing for hours afterwards. Lou knew something about just about every topic that came up. His knowledge of trivia, and of how things worked, was amazing. Lou's love for his family was evident to everyone around him. He did his best to leave this world better for the rest of us. He was a good man and I will miss him.
