“ It is fast approaching Tom's Death date and find that I miss my dear friend. I came across some pictures of us from the 70s, I only wish I could bring some of those wonderful times back. I still miss him so much. Gone but not forgotten.

“ I remember Tom from our Army days in Hanau Germany from 1966 - 1967. He was always spit-shined and ship-shaped, a soldier's soldier. And a hell of a nice guy. He spent 20 years of his life in the Army protecting our Freedom.. Gone too soon. Rest in Peace, My Brother

“ I have had the privilege of knowing Tom for over 45 years. He was a very proud person, I have never seen a person who cared about people like Tom did. I met Tom when I was in the service and I was on Hometown Recruiting. We just hit it off, and I was proud to be a part of his life. We almost married but that is another thought. We talked and wrote to each other a lot over the years. Shared highlights of each others lives. I was happy when he found someone special to shade his life with. He was a very special man, I find myself still waiting for him to answer me back on messenger. I feel emptiness. I couldn't come and pay my respects and that weighs heavy on my heart. I love you my dear, dear friend. You were a good part of my life. No matter who he touched in his life they were special. Goodnight sweet prince.

“ Tom will be missed by all of us here at Kennell & Associates. His down-to-earth demeanor and strong work ethic served us all well over his 20-year tenure with our company. However, it really is the "little" things that Tom did for all of us that will be missed the most. On St. Patrick's day, Tom would leave everyone a four leaf clover coin, likely in the hope that we would find luck that day. During the holidays, it was Tom that would decorate the office, likely in the hope that we all would take pause to recognize our blessings and to enjoy the season a bit more. Tom did these things (and many other things) silently, and he did them for us.

We will miss you Tom. Thank you for caring about each of us.

*Your friend,
Doug*
