“ Mike was always ready to greet the people who showed up at Bethel Church, with a big smile and to catch us up on the most recent stories of his grandchildren, whom he absolutely treasured. My son often tagged along with me, where he and Mike struck up a friendship over the years, Mike never forgetting to gift him a dollar or some coins from his pocket. He did this consistently for years as my son continued to sprout from a little boy and into a teenager. Needless to say, Mike holds a dear spot in both of our hearts. He left a lasting impression of kindness and love that will not soon be forgotten.

“ I met Michael through our mutual friend James. I always enjoyed our lunches and discussions around our spiritual growth and recovery. Every now and again I would get a text from Michael asking me how I was doing. He always brought a smile. Rest in Peace.

“ I became friends with Mike when he began attending early 7am meetings at Bethel Church here in Manassas. After going to breakfast and lunch with him several times at both Denny's and The Juke Box Diner, I discovered his both quick and dry wit. Even though Mike and I pulled for different sports teams from two different cities, I enjoyed listening to him discuss his beloved Baltimore Colts, Ravens and Orioles. We also reminisced about old Memorial Stadium and seeing sports events there in our younger days. Even though he has lived in Northern VA for quite some time, I did spot his Maryland Pride. That is why I nick-named him Balmer Mike. May he rest in peace and may his beloved Orioles get to the World Series and win it this year. Rest in Peace Mike--you are already in Jesus' arms.
