“ I met Michelle when I started working at Serve's homeless shelter in Manassas. After getting to know me, she said "You need to meet my nephew. You two will get along." 20yrs later, Malcolm is still one of my best friends.

Michelle was loud, funny and boisterous. We met at work but treated each other like family. She was hardworking and always willing to help anyone, as long as they were willing to help themselves. If you walked through her front door, you left fed and clothed whether you were related or not. She raised 5 responsible kids under not so easy circumstances and did it all with class and a smile every time she stepped out the door.

I barely survived many gin-tastic Spades games at her dining room table. I will miss her giant hugs and am lucky to have known Michelle. She was the rock for so many and she still made time to share her love and energy with me :) ~ Matt Dillon

“ To the Bright and Scott Families, Isaiah 61:3; To appoint unto them that mourn in Zion, to give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness; that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the LORD, that he might be glorified.

“ One of my most fondest memories of my mom as an adult was when I was pregnant with my oldest Theory. I really wanted her to come to my baby shower and she said she couldn't make it and that she was not coming up from Tx for 1 day. She said I will see you when the baby is born isn't that better? I reluctantly agreed. The day before my shower I was invited to a friend's house for dinner and knocked on the door and my mother answered. I was in such shock for the first and only time ever I was so happy and filled with emotion that I cried.

“ Michelle was truly an angel in disguise. Her heart was always in the right place. She was constantly extending her hand to help in any way she could, not only with THINGS, but also with encouraging words. She kept it REAL! Even when REAL wasn't what you wanted to hear. She's FREE, and in a place we long to be. To Brian, Stephen, Matt, Christina, & Melissa, BE ENCOURAGED BELOVEDS!! Michelle fought a good fight. Strong, Courageous, and head on. I'm sending lots of love, hugs, and condolences from myself & family. Love you guys and will keep you in my heart, thoughts, & prayers. 🙏🙏🙏
