“ My favorite memories of Olive include the time we spent cooking and pouring over cookbooks. When she first married my granddad, I expressed a deep desire to be an accomplished cook, and she spent considerable time sitting with me at the dinner table and talking about cooking and discussing tips and techniques. I loved hearing the stories she had for each recipe and cherished getting to help prepare the big holiday meals. I enjoyed learning from her and will think of her when I make delicious dishes like green bean casserole, mashed potatoes, and apple pie - the correct way, without burnt crust!
