“ Missing Pat and the more than 30 years of memories. From squirrel calling in the woods (never did see a squirrel) to the vacations and holidays spent listening to him recap his days at Giant and his retelling of the events we had long forgotten. We will miss the laughs greatly and waking up to him on our couch after a night of sitting out by the fire sipping his miller lites. It was an honor knowing him and sharing years of ‘wooooooos’! He will always be in our hearts. Until we meet again dear friend.

“ I will miss you Patrick. I will miss your phone calls when you called yourself "your redneck cousin" How you answered the phone Hey Cuz.

How you would send me the count down of the days before Christmas in July. The funny memes and other text messages. The stories of how things were going at your latest Giant store, and the commute to get their and such.

Our banter on which state was better, Maryland or Virginia. By the way it is still Maryland.

We grew up together(Our Moms are sisters) at Grandma's house. Playing sports with our Uncles every holiday. Playing trucks up in the attic with all the cousins. As we got older(and of legal age) enjoying a beer out on the front porch.

All the tributes on Facebook show what a kind person you were. I am sorry I can not be there in person to give Aunt Maureen a hug, or sit with Brendon, or Chad to tell stories.
