“ In cleaning out some boxes of books I found this card from Pattie Slaughter dated Aug. 1989 so thought I should try to find her. So sad to learn she has passed. Inside the card were photos and fond memories of my brief encounter with Pattie for a couple of weeks that summer in Couer d'Alene, ID. I was the archaeologist for the Transportation Dept doing an excavation at Fernan Lake, just down the hill from her house. She was so excited and interested that she became our full time "volunteer". What a delight to have around with her bubbling enthusiasm and charming wit. It was an experience I will always cherish.

“ I am Pattie Lynn's first cousin. Periodically, I would try to contact her. My problem was that I only had her maiden name (no help from Google). I am in the process of moving, and I found a picture of her, with her married name, Slaughter. So, here I am...

I am sorry to see that she passed in 2019. Growing up in the '50s, she was very kind to me as her "little cousin". Rest in peace, Pattie Lynn... Currell Pattie

“ My sister and I met pattie through our dad, her neighbor, John clayton. I was introduced to pattie while dad was delivering one of his famous soups. Pattie was so kind to him and they thoroughly enjoyed sarcasm and book sharing. Her green thumb also informed my father's own passion for his gardens. I will miss our talks and her wit. When our dad passed just 6 months ago, we exchanged notes and calls in between visits. I give my deepest sympathy to her family . May peace and healing quickly come much love and support “ Sending strength and comfort to your family and to all who had the pleasure of knowing you. You will certainly be missed, especially for me, as Halloween approaches. Your house was always our first stop to trick-or-treat and we were always ready for you to take our annual family Halloween photo. This year Sabastian has probably outgrown the costumes, but little Noah will be an adorable sock monkey and I know you would have really enjoyed it. We will always cherish the "signature photo" that you took of our father, Henry, peeking out the drivers side window of his little white station wagon... the picture has hung on our refrigerator for all to see since he passed in December of 2012. Thank you so very much for capturing that moment. Rest peacefully sweet Pattie!

“ Pattie Lynn was a fun, gentle woman. She would stop by and we would look over her mom's lilac garden next door to my house and look at other surprises that Mother Nature had left for us to find. This summer she dropped off a precious succulent dish garden for me as a gift. Over this hot summer, it flourished.

I visited her a couple of weeks ago when as she put it was "on croak watch". Her wit and her wisdom are seldom equaled. I didn't expect it to be a good bye. She had spoke to her friend Jean that week and told her you never know when you time will come. Pattie said maybe she would outlast Jean.

Pattie you still owe me your mom's fruit jam recipe!
