“ Paul was a wonderful guy. I met Paul sometime this year. He was quiet but engaging. It was fun to learn more about him. He was still recovering from the loss of his wife. It really showed he loved her. He also enjoyed his time with his children. We often talked about work, politics and just the simple things. One of my favorite things was to see Paul and Vern sitting side by side when I visited the American Legion. Paul had just said on Friday night that work was something that gave him a purpose during what most people would call the "retirement" years. He loved red wine! He will be missed and I will drink a toast to him.

I met Paul at the American Legion Post 10 and even though I haven't known him that long, I really liked him. We talked about wine, baseball and anything else that came up. I will miss him greatly as he was such a pleasure to know. My deepest sympathy to the family.

Janet and I were stunned to learn of Paul's sudden passing. He was one of my late parent's very best friends and was always so kind and generous to us. We'll never forget his ready smile and how he happily kept Janet in jewelry at every opportunity. We were sorry to miss the service, but wanted to send along our heartfelt condolences to each of Paul's family. It saddens us know as we write this that we will never see him again, but it makes us smile that we knew him.

In fond and loving remembrance,

Brad and Janet Fleetwood
