“ Paul was a big man in many respects. I lived next door to Paul for 18 years, and he was indeed a really good friend and neighbor. We shared time at ball games, bluegrass concerts, on the lawn mowers, and on the front and back porch. I borrowed his truck often, and he could outwork me in the hauling wood department. We once split the cost of a leaf bagger, after he jokingly said he got the approval from his "Superintendent" Carolyn. He would bring his extended family to my church's oyster dinner and fill up an entire row of pews. We would talk about life, and I would learn so much from his wisdom of many years. After I moved away, he and Carolyn were always most welcoming when I would drop in for a quick visit that would extend into a couple of hours. I am really going to miss him.

“ A truly great man. I remember working at Maximum Security in the late '70's - early '80s how he would step up to the door to be let into the Control Center, and all you could see through the small eye-level window was the knot of his necktie!
