“ Many great memories growing up with Uncle Bob and his family. Uncle Bob always made me feel like another son to him. I will always remember the shaking hands with my Uncle. He would always try (and try) to get me to my knees with his strong grip. All the good times that Uncle Bob and my dad coordinated between the two families. Uncle Bob your back home now with my Dad , Uncle Chuck, your Dad and both sets of moms.

You will never be forgotten

“ Uncle Bob was a big teaser. He liked to play a practical joke on people. It didn't mean very much to me knowing my father was his identical twin. Sure my dad looked a lot like Uncle Bob. To me my dad had his own look and it was just a strong family resemblance to Uncle Bob. When I was a kid it was great fun to see Uncle Bob come to visit and pretend to our neighbors that he was my father. I'm not sure the neighbors or my father liked it but I thought it was so funny. I couldn't believe he could fool them. It wasn't until my own dad passed away that I started to notice how very similar they were. With Uncle Bob gone, I admit there is a sadness that is more than just missing a wonderful uncle. I'll miss you Uncle Bob.xxxxxxxxxx
