“ Bobby and Carolyn --
I cannot express how sorry I am regarding the sudden loss of Kevin. I still remember when Mom, Billy, and myself visited your house right after Kevin was born and the overall excitement in the Saffer household.

As time has passed and I have become a husband and father of 3 (soon to be 4) children, I cannot fathom your loss. My only thoughts are to lean heavily on your faith, family, and friends. Please do not hesitate to reach out to me (704.904.6970) if you need anything. I appreciate how much support you have provided my Mom over the past 13 years since my Dad passed away and am willing to help out anyway I can.

May God bless you (and Bobby) during this difficult time and provide you with necessary courage and strength.

“ Dear Carolyn and Bobby,

I cannot begin to comprehend the utter loss you both feel. Please know that my thoughts and prayers are added to the many many friends you have allowed to enter your lives.

Kevin is remembered by me as a warm and wonderful person as well as a very proud father, son and brother.

I am sure as I write this that he and Debbie have already conspired to help both of you with the inner strength to persevere that you instilled in the both of them.

Stay strong for your beautiful granddaughter Kayla, but especially for each other.

With Deep Affection,

Brian Walsh
