“ Jamie and family, I am so sorry for your loss. I met your Mom at one of our company picnics and spent a lot of time together that day laughing and cutting up. I've always remembered how friendly and kind-hearted she was and just so easy to talk with. She left a lasting impression. I will keep your family in my prayers.

“ to my second Mom,
Your loss goes so deep I can not express how I feel. I will forever keep you in my heart. I will try to focus on all the beautiful memories that we shared.
The beautiful scar on my knee from chasing me into a tree!
Sneaking me in the car, painting classes, cake decorating classes and most of all...driving lessons! Over filling our car tires and they felt like boulders as we drove down the road, oh how we laughed at ourselves. We were so proud to have figured out how to fill them up. Camping in the rain and feeling we were going to wash away.
The way that we loved to decorate for holidays, the perfect table. Most of all the one on one conversations that we shared and no one can take that from me.
I will do my best to help my brothers through this difficult time, to help your twin, your second half, my Mom. Her bound has been broken, a part of her is gone forever. I will always treasure you and miss you dearly. I love you always.

“ May you find the courage to face tomorrow in the love that surrounds you.....your loved one will always be as close as a memory and the God of all comfort is always as close as a prayer. It will be the little things that you will remember the quiet moments, the smiles, the laughter. And although it may seem hard right now, it will be the memory of these little things that help to push away the pain and bring the smiles back again.

I have fought the fine fight, I have run the course to the finish, I have observed the faith.-2Timothy 4:7. As for me, I will lie down that I may sleep; I shall certainly awake, for Jehovah himself keeps supporting me. -Psalms 3:5
