“ Stan was a great guy - I'm shocked and saddened to hear this news. I helped him manage his Kill Devil Hills home on the Outer Banks, a beautiful and serene getaway that he was very proud of. He was always easy to work with and I enjoyed visiting and chatting with him when he was in town. I'll be praying for those who have known and loved him. I know too well the hardship of losing family to Alpha-1 and I hope they keep making progress to learn more about this disorder. Rest in Peace, Stan. See you on the other side!

“ I have known Stan for 25 years. I just spoke to him last Wednesday, we were talking about his Beach House and mine both in North Carolina. He called me a month ago when he was at a concert at Jiffy Lube to see if I was there, I had no idea of any illness . It breaks my heart. He was one of those friends. I didn't see him every week, but I see him 4 -5 times a year and we always kept in touch, if there was anything going on, he thought I should know about he would always call and tell me, we talked about the Redskins many times. He's done work for me at my house. I own The Cleaning Authority. If he ever called me or I called him wanting the answer to a question or get the other thoughts, we would talk 30 minutes before we even got to the question, he knew a lot of people in the area. My brother and I are the same way, so we always had a lot of people crossed past . He was comfortable to talk to. I always enjoy the conversations certain things would come into my mind and I would say I need to call Stan. I will miss those comp conversations. We used to clean his house for years. I am really broken over this.
