“ I was just thinking about Steve and how I would like the opportunity to talk with him - it doesn't matter the subject. He always had time to talk and share a laugh and he was always positive. You'd leave that quick little exchange feeling good. I met Steve at work around 1999 and as we changed jobs we had the opportunity to work together for awhile and then move on to something else. But you could always catch the big guy in the hallways and he wouldn't hesitate to share a moment of time and a big grin. I am just glad for the opportunity to have met Steve.

“ I am shocked and sad to hear of Steve's passing. He was a kind and generous person, with a common sense approach to problem solving. He helped me personally several times to understand and more effectively communicate the financial and budget issues of my program [MK154] at Quantico. I offer my most sincere condolences to Linda and his family. With sorrow in this time of grief, Irina Clements

“ I wish I had the opportunity to speak at Steve's service.. I wanted to read the following poem I wrote for him:

*This is a really sad day,
And something very hard for me to do.
But it's a day of honor, praise and remembrance
And no one deserves that more than YOU.*

*You deserve so many kudos and thank-yous
And a tremendous number of accolades;
But whenever someone tried to recognize you,
You'd always give someone else the praise.*

*You've touched so many people
With your friendship, knowledge and kindness.
You were a team player, a leader and a Friend
To Everyone – not just those of us in Finance.*

*I'd come into work every morning
Well before the sun would be up.
And there you'd be – already started your day,
With an open Bible and that big ole blue coffee cup!*

*You'd always take time for me
And it never seemed to bother,
You'd offer words of encouragement and support
Always with care and concern – just like my Father.*

*I can't express how grateful I am
For all the talks and the stories we shared.
No matter how busy you were at the time,
You took time to listen, REALLY listen – and you cared!*

*I will miss you terribly my Friend.
All the memories – I'll cherish every part.
I hope you know how much you mean to me*

And that I'll always have you in my heart.

I love you. I miss you. Rest in Peace Steve....
