“ Susan was a big part of my teen age years and 20's growing up. Always at my house with my sister Gini. In many ways without knowing it we became close. 4 years ago we reconnected and was able to spend time together. It was like old times, talking and laughing about everything and everyone.

Susan was so full of life and and so much fun to be around. i loved her laugh and everything about her. Susan was such a terrific person in all ways that count. She will always be remembered and she will live on in her kids and grandkids and will be loved and missed by so so many that knew her.

My heart and love goes out to Mildred and Sarah and the whole family.

Susan will always be in my heart forever. I love you Susan.

“ So many happy memories and laughter come to mind in remembering Susan. I'm so very glad I had lunch and some time to catch up with her not so long ago. To her family and friends: Thank you for sharing Susan with us.

“ Susan was a wonderful person to know and work with. As a key member of our support staff, she was always happy to help those of us working in the field, and ready with a kind word whenever we spoke.

Susan took her job seriously and with her calm and professional ways, she made it look easy. That's a tough thing to do in in a seasonal business, but she was one tough cookie. In the heat of the season, everyone gets crazy. The designers are frazzled, the foremen are worn out, the managers' patience level is at an all time low, the secretaries and support staff are doing ten things at once, and the clients....arg....don't even get me started....they want it all and they want it NOW.

And, Susan was happy to help each and every person that was sent her way. But, let me tell you, brother....you'd best be nice about it. Because if you weren't willing to be respectful and kind, she would most assuredly set you straight. Didn't matter who you were. She brooked no nonsense and I loved that about her. You could always count on her to 'tell it like it is'. She was hilarious.

I will miss her. I will miss her soft gentle voice, her humor, her candor, and most of all, I will miss her smile. Thank you, Susan, for being the lovely person that you were. You have made us all better people by having known you. God Bless you and keep you, until we meet again.

Love, Jo Lynne

“ I met Susan Perry in Mr. Tidwell's art class when we were freshman at Langley High School. For some reason, we clicked instantly and for most of the following twenty plus years stayed constant friends. We went through all the crazy ups and downs of our teens and our twenties and into our mid-thirties through boyfriends, marriages, pregnancies, divorces, sharing a lot of support and laughter together. Susan had a great wit that would erupt in such a straight-faced droll way that we would explode in laughter. I remember so many funny moments and important times in those years, memories too many to list. Susan was a warm person, a wonderful mom for her boys and a super friend. We never reconnected and she will always be in my heart as remembered.

in 1989 when my grandmother died, Susan having spent so much time hanging out at our house over the years, unannounced went to see my mom, It meant a lot to my mom to sit and talk with Susan that day and is a perfect memory to share, as that gesture spoke to who Susan was in this life..

If the meaning of a life well lived, is measured by the love given and received, Susan Perry Brown lived life well and will be well remembered by all who loved her. In the circle of life, Susan lives on in her children and grandchildren and in the hearts of her friends.
