“ My sister loved to laugh and make people laugh. Anyone who ever heard her really in a full blown laugh explosion will know what I mean when I say it was absolutely hysterical! Forget about what originally was funny. Theresia would start off with a small giggle, then that turned into a few more laughs and then... explosive, noisy losing her breath laughing erupted. Her laugh became the new very funny center of humor. We miss her and are glad she is comfortable. Miss you Sis!
