“ Valerie came into my life 45 years ago when I married her son, Joe. She was the grandmother to my children and was very generous with gifts to them through out the years some you wondered what was she thinking and others were wonderful and helpful as the kids started their own families. She loved being a great-grandma and was waiting for the great-great grandma title.

Grandma and I had our ups an downs during the years but we did care deeply for each other. I stood by her side as we went through the time of illnesses and with her at her last breath. She drove me nuts at times but I will miss her and so glad I was able to help her be comfortable at the end. God take her into his fold to reunite her with her husband, son and grandsons.
