“ You are a good man Will. I hope you can see how many people's lives you have touched. The morning of the accident I was talking with Melissa and I told her how cool you were to me when you guys were considering me for the club. Later that day she texted me the news. I know you are with God now

“ Regardless of the number of years, life passes too quickly. Seeing a precious life cut this short is a cold reminder that we are not home yet. We remember Willy as an upbeat, energetic young man. Always smiling. Our last personal memory of Willy was when he asked my wife to help him locate a Bible for each of his kids. He wanted all of them to have eternal life...

Over the past few years, Willie has created quite a legacy. The stories...pictures...memories are all priceless keepsakes now.

We hope and pray that each of us will choose to join him in heaven some day...and not have him wonder where we are...
